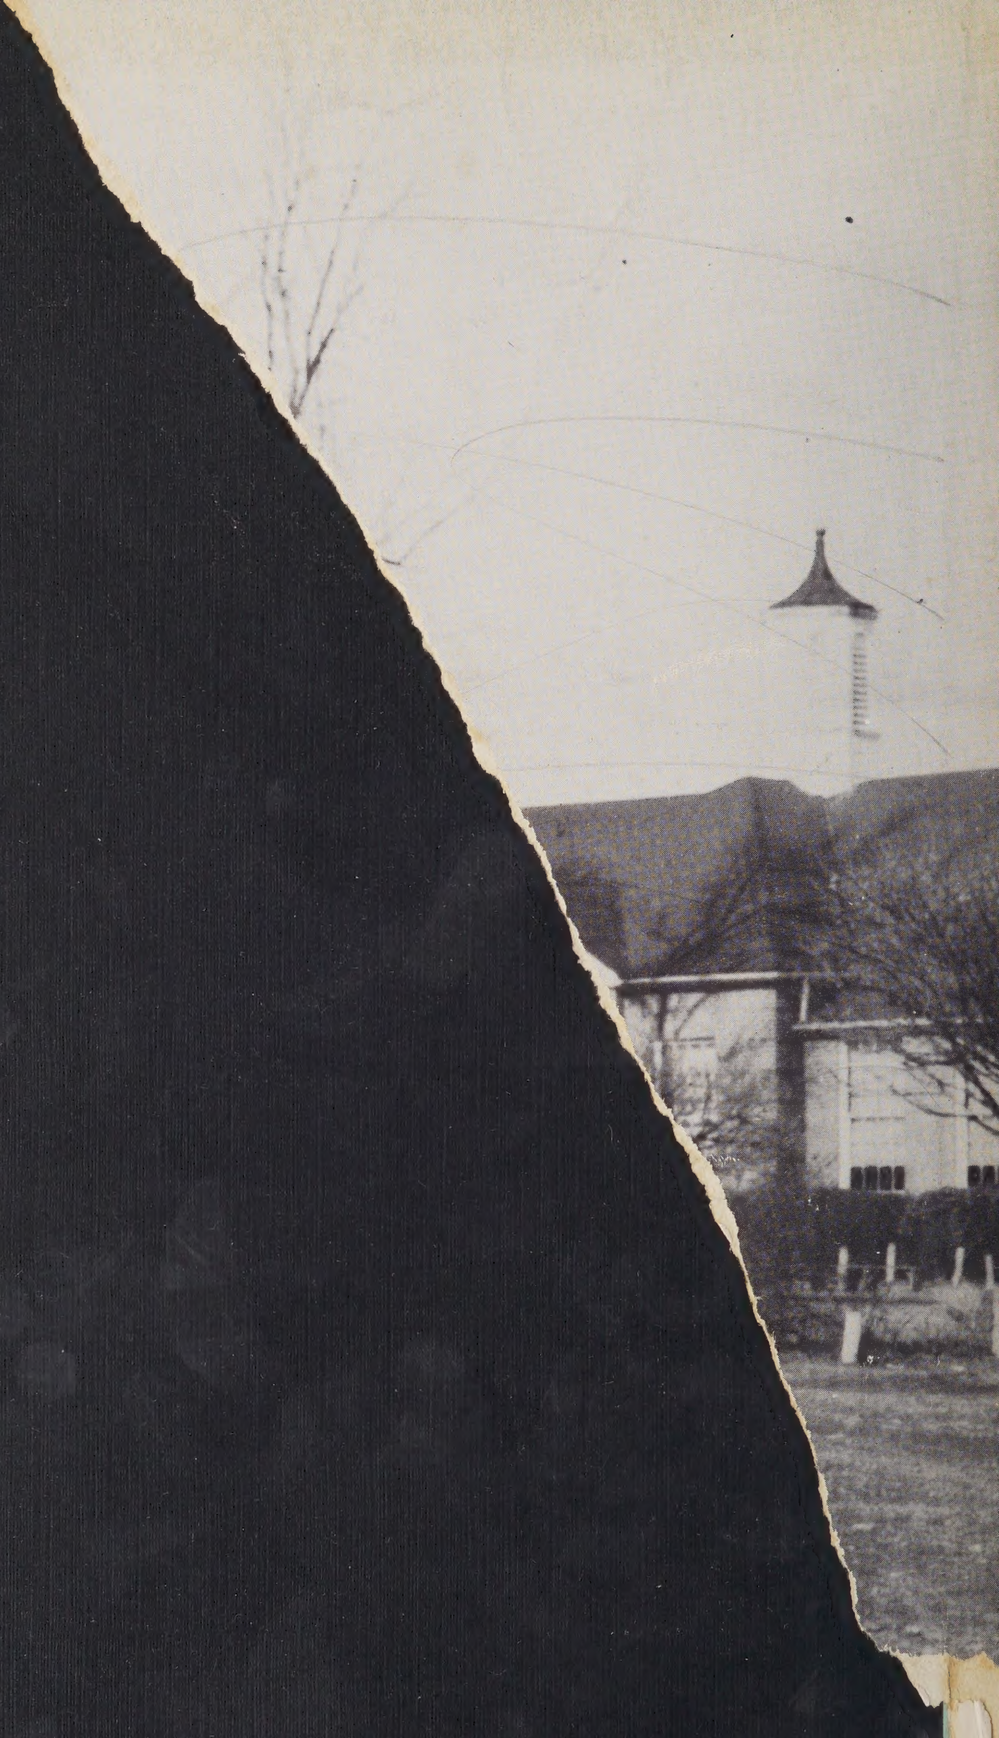
THE HORN



JN

Prologue

Teachers, classmates, and deeds
Are all recorded here.
Our activities that we enjoyed
Throughout this past school year
Are here for us to see.
As the years go by,
All these memories we shall cherish
Of dear old Helena High.

Dedication

We, the Senior Class of 1955, dedicate this volume of the Hornet to the memory of
MRS. VERA ROGERS FOX

Her many fine qualities were shown each day. Her services to her school, her church and her community were an inspiration to all of us. Her excellent guidance started many of us on the road to success.

We shall always remember her ready smile, her kind words, her friendliness, her sacrifices and her devotion as a teacher and as a friend.

Motto: To have friends, be a friend.

Class History

Entering school in 1943 with Mrs. Bailey Dickerson, Miss Nannie Monk, and Miss Harrison as our teachers, we were a bunch of dumb and inexperienced kids, but during our first year we found out our teachers were too well experienced with our kind. In the first grade we learned what the corner of the room and a ring on the blackboard meant, for they were a means of keeping us in our places and making us behave.

After getting over the fact that we had to act like school students, we became second graders. We must admit Mrs. Norma Whitfield, Mrs. Reed, and Mrs. Vera Fox had a somewhat difficult time keeping us quiet and in our seats. We also learned that printing was easy compared with the new type of writing we were learning.

With Miss Alma Moore, Miss Bryant, and Mrs. Villians as our third grade teachers, we formed a "Rhythm Band" of which we were very proud. Some of the girls found out that the boys were not as tough as they pretended to be when a girl got in the boxing ring with him.

To ease our minds from geography and long, tedious problems, our teachers, Mrs. Addie Mae O'Briant, Miss Crowder, and Mrs. Satterfield gave us parties which were enjoyed by all. We really enjoyed the days of the week that we met with the fifth and sixth grades to sing some songs. We learned that the more we sang, the faster time went by.

Most of the girls joined the 4-H Club in the fifth grade. Mrs. Hubert Hicks, Mrs. Jones, and Mrs. Satterfield gave us a difficult time teaching us the 48 states and capitals. We all enjoyed the wiener roasts given to us by our teachers.

More studying and less play filled up our sixth year in school. By this time we were really learning what going to the library meant. Somehow Mrs. Howard found time to take us on field trips to teach us the study of nature. At Mt. Tirzah we took a trip to Raleigh with Mrs. Painter. As for us from Hurdle Mills we stuck to our studies with Miss Alma Moore's company.

Taking time out of our spelling studies, our teachers, Miss Alma Moore, Mrs. Frances Kirby, Mrs. Cothran, Mrs. Painter, and Mrs. Noell, gave us with our grademothers help parties on each of the holidays. Due to the fact that Hurdle Mills and Helena students were divided, the parties were most enjoyed on these occasions. Most of all we liked the ball games we played against each other. Having skinned knees was nothing unusual for the girls that year.

A streak of luck hit Hurdle Mills and Helena the next year, for we were a class together once more, the same as Mt. Tirzah. Though Mrs. Frances Kirby, Mrs. Penn Noell, and Mrs. Hall did their best to teach us something, we weren't interested in books and studies; for now that we were old enough to wear lipstick and perfume, our attention was carried to the boys. At Hurdle Mills we went to Raleigh and had wiener roasts, while some of those from Mt. Tirzah and Helena took a trip to the planetarium and had wiener roasts.

At last the time came when we entered high school as freshmen. We were as proud as we could be with Mr. Hendren, Mr. Titus, and Mr. Dunn as homeroom teachers. With their help and patience, we soon became acquainted with high school procedures. Taking time out for exercises was a real treat. We were also thrilled at the big part we took in basketball as players and benchwarmers. At Hurdle Mills we had to go to another school, Bushy Fork, to practice basketball, but it was fun getting out of class to practice.

In our sophomore year Hurdle Mills and Mt. Tirzah joined at Helena. Though it was hard at first, we soon learned how nice it was to make new friends. It didn't take us long to get accustomed to our new school. After electing class officers we decided to have a meeting for social purposes. In that meeting we decided to have a wiener roast with Sybil Dean as our hostess.

As juniors, we thought we were quite a group, looking forward to our banquet and class rings. Mrs. Foushee was our homeroom teacher, but after her resignation we enjoyed having Mrs. Welch and Mr. Adams as our homeroom teachers.

Now we say we are in our grand year, the end of our high school education. We are looking forward to our graduation. With the help of Miss Ruth Lunsford, we think we are having a fine time with our annual, although we have found out it is not as easy as it may seem. Our senior play is ahead of us now and we are looking forward to making it a success. Of course the junior-senior banquet will be the next big event, which will be a grand night for us all. As for graduation, it is something we have been waiting for a long time, but we will miss our teachers and friends more than we realize now. For some of us it will not mean the end of our education, but just the beginning.

The trouble with letting off steam is it usually only gets you into more hot water.

Mrs. Tatum: "Jean, are you spitting in the fish bowl?"
Jean Berry: "No, Coach, but I'm coming close."

Betty Jean: "You mean to say you got 40 miles to the gallon out of that old trap of yours?"
Winnie: "Certainly. But of course most of the time I was being towed."

Last Will And Testaments

We, the seniors of 1955 of Helena High School, nearing the conclusion of our high school education, do will and bequeath the following to the following individuals:

I, Jean Berry, will my ability to teach French to Miss Lunsford. Carry on and watch those verbs, Ma Ruth.

I, Ercelle Blalock, will my tall stature to Nelson Blalock. We don't have to look up to anybody, do we, Nelson?

I, Floyd Bradsher, will my ability to study to Russell Moore.

I, Betty Jean Brooks, do will my position on the girls basketball team to Delmas Terry. Watch those girls, Delmas.

I, Beatrice Cates, will my ability to fall in love with the right one to George Whitfield. Make sure it's "Love", boy.

I, Jackie Cates, bequeath my front porch swing to Candace Denny.

I, Elizabeth Chambers, leave to Cora Chambers my typewriter, plus a new ribbon so she may type a letter to W. P.

I, Kathryn Clayton, bequeath my shyness and attentiveness in Home Ec. Class to Jo Milam.

I, Goldie Cothran, leave my seat in the lunch room to Betty Lean Welch on special days when they serve "Moose".

I, Brodie Cozart, will my height to Martin Duncan and hope he can exceed the 6'5" mark. Get up there, boy.

I, Carl Crabtree, bequeath my school bus to Henry Terry. Watch out and don't let George get it.

I, Lewis Crabtree, do will my ability to make things in the shop to Claiborne Tuck.

To Rebecca Walker, I Delores Day, will my ability to two-step. "Watch out and don't get your feet tangled up"

I, Sybil Dean, will my ability to go to the Amvet Dance on Saturday night to Elva Ann Duncan.

I, Gracene Duncan, leave to Betty Jean Fogleman my short stumpy figure.

I, James Duncan, bequeath my ability to play football to Wilmer Moore.

I, Mary Evans, will my ability to marry to Grace Dickerson.

I, Troy Gregory, bequeath my ability to hook girls to Daniel Berry. If the hook slips, let her go.

I, Esther Grinstead, will my ability to catch boy friends to Grace Dickerson.

I, Mary Hawkins, leave my ability to flirt to Reuben Brann.

I, Inna Jaremenko, will all of my boy friends to Rosa Slaughter.

I, Joyce Kidd, wish to leave my "WOBBLY WALK" to Candace Denny.

I, Martin Knott, leave my position as pitcher to Wesley Morris. You need it, boy.

I, Evelyn Ann Lunsford, will my ability to dance to Donald Reed Ashley. Dance on, Donald.

Last Will And Testaments

I, Howard Lunsford, leave my good looks to Radford Garrett.
I, Shirley McCullock, bequeath my big mouth and like for soldiers to Barbara Jo Ashley.
I, Shirley Oakley, leave to Myrna Lou Eakes my ability to hitch-hike to the dance. Go on, Law.
I, Winnie Satterfield, will my love of cigarettes to Barbara Jo Ashley.
I, Joyce Stanfield, leave to Frankie Blalock my ability to hook boys. Hold tight because mine got away from me.
I, Jean Tapp, will leave. "Thank Goodness."
I, Shirley Tapp, bequeath to Mr. Titus my yen for learning the hard way. Ha! Better to have a week's vacation than none at all.
I, Ted Slaughter, will my school bus to Jack Whitlock. Watch out for Palmer.
I, Becky Walker, will my bashful ways to Richard Long. Use them wisely, Rich.
I, William Weaver, leave my ability to skip class to Russell Moore.
I, Joyce Whitfield, will my ability to play the piano, to Betty Jean Fogleman.
I, Annie Rose Wilson, bequeath my ability to tap dance and play the piano to Rebecca Walker.
I, David Wilson, will my ability to play basketball to Mike Teague, and my football suit I leave to Bar-bell Chambers.
I, Faydene Yancey, will my ability to Gloria Oakley to receive diamonds at Christmas. If at first you don't succeed, Gloria, try again.
We, J. C. Woody and Ray Garrett do hereby will and bequeath to Mrs. Foushee our quietness and ability to learn English and to Wesley Morris and Pasco Grinstead our ability to play football.
Witnessed, signed, and sealed by me, this bloody day of December 9th, 1954, Jackie Cates.

Want to be a popular speaker? follow these rules: To be seen, stand up; to be heard, speak up; to be appreciated and applauded, shut up.

Sign at a railroad crossing near Colorado Springs: "The average time it takes a train to pass this crossing is 14 seconds--whether your car is on it or not."

Carl Crabtree: Mr. Titus, it was harder to kiss a girl in your day wasn't it?
Mr. Titus: Well, it was safer. I never heard of the parlor sofa running off the road and smashing into a telephone pole.

Prophecies

You'll go strutting in garments fine,
Pitying me in these rags of mine.
I'll go hungry and you'll have bread,
But I'll be a great man when I'm dead.

As I was passing through Roxboro, I stopped at "Tips", where whom did I see but Faydene Yancey washing cars for D. A. after ditching T. H. Keep the good work up, Fay.

Next I saw Jackie Cates at a new parking lot in Roxboro with plenty of room for all. This parking lot, called the "Wide Open Spaces", is operated by Jackie and her husband D. R.

From Roxboro I went to Shake Rag where I saw Brodie Cozart and S. H. who were going Fox hunting. Better watch the "Coons", Brodie.

The next person I met I did not recognize at first as she has changed somewhat. It was Gracene Duncan with her prosperous husband, Z. K., and their two "kids" on "Old Goat." What happened to the donkey ford, Gracene?

While passing through Morristown whom should I see but Jean Tapp, J. P. and the twin Painters playing on the jutebox at Morris Service Station. "I Wish I Was a Single Girl Again".

Ray Garrett has replaced Billy Graham as the world's greatest Evangelist. Traveling with Ray and directing the music for the evangelistic meeting is Lewis Crabtree who has become a second Frank Sinatra.

On my way to Virgilina, I saw Shirley McCullock who was forced to take in washing to support G. E. D. and their MANY kids.

As I was returning from South Boston, I saw Evelyn Ann Lunsford and her eight kids on a station wagon going to C & A after her husband, A. D.

I also stopped to see Jean Berry and her new husband B. C. in their million dollar home near Collins and Aikman. Jean must be working too. Carry on, Jean!

Another classmate whom I did not recognize was Delores Day, who, after she refused to marry T. W., is now helping B. B. run Johnson & Chisholm Body Shop. All right, Delores, let's don't have any MONKEY BUSINESS.

Poor Elizabeth Chambers! All that work is getting her down since she has become a full time "Carver."

The more I traveled, the more I learned about my classmates of '55. Sybil Dean is now in Hollywood. She has become the maid of an actress. How did you ever get away from J. D. M. and Roses' 5 and 10?

Next I saw Joyce Stanfield, who, after breaking many hearts, is a rising star in Hollywood. Her latest release is "Shake, Rattle and Roll."

Oh my, who would have thought Joyce Kidd would have been bow-legged? But after helping Pete run a service station and greasing cars, I guess it has gotten the old girl down.

While visiting Joyce, I called on Mr. and Mrs. James Duncan. They have six grown boys, who are now taking Glen Miller's honors with James as the big band. Wonder what happened to the Shake-Rag-Ramblers?

They told me that J. C. Woody and Shelba had finally acquired that mansion on the hilltop, and that J. C. continues running out the door with pots and pans flying after him.

I learned from James also that Carl Crabtree is now the producer of a movie coming out, in which S. T. is starring.

Esther Grinstead, the proud owner of the world's greatest crystal ball, still has Carlton on the leash. I suppose Tom, Dick, Harry, Joe, and Jim were lost in the rush.

Prophecy

She insisted that I gaze into the crystal ball. Well, I did and this is what I saw. Wedding bells for Shirley Oakley and B K. At last you snagged him. Well, congratulations, Shall!

Things were so interesting I looked again, and I saw Mary Evans on an air base in California concentrating on the thought of bringing those 12 kids home to grandma for a while.

I gazed and gazed at Beatrice Cates. She's started the "Lonely Hearts Club." Can you imagine who joined first? E. C., of course.

Well, I guess the best thing happened for Becky Walker. She's a patrolwoman. Wonder who'll catch the most for speeding, she or Floyd?

Almost in sight is my old classmate, Mary Hawkins. She's been standing in front of that stand at the state fair for weeks throwing at cats. Where did you learn to hit so well, Mary? Oh yes! Reuben.

Next I saw Shirley Tapp and J. L. who I thought would have had a string of kids by now, but Shirley's walking the tight rope without a net. Oh look! J. L. is under the rope with his arms waiting for her to fall. Watch your step! It's dangerous.

Next in line is Inna Jermenko who had finally gotten a grass skirt for that Hawaiian dance. Inna, I thought you only studied. When did you learn to dance?

Coming in vision now is Kathryn Clayton. Just as I thought, cleaning Johnny's houses.

Listen to that music? Oh, that is the Burch Choir. Since Winnie Satterfield has her degree in music, she and her husband C. B. have started their own little choir.

Looking again I saw Betty Brooks and David Wilson bought the Fo-Acre Warehouse and business was really blooming. They sell Wilson's Ideal Dog Food on the side.

There is no doubt Martin Knott and V. A. are married, but it doesn't seem to matter to Martin as he spends most of his time with his tap dance pupils, especially J. C. M. and E. W. T.

Still gazing, I saw that Troy Gregory had become manager of the Gregory Construction Company. I see he is having a certain dirt road in Helena paved. It seems he didn't like walking through mud to B. C's. house.

Whew! There goes Floyd Bradsher on that powerful racer car. Well, well, look coming after him, 3 little Floyd Jr's on a smaller car. Wonder where Mrs. Floyd is?

Well, I never thought of it! Joyce Whitfield is running the "Hoochie Koochie Show" with her one and only A. T.

Continuing the journey, I saw Goldie Cothran. She had joined the WAF's, riding the deep blue sea and seeing the open spaces. She is having a hard time keeping C. H. out of trouble. Just last night, he slept under her bed and he was supposed to be at home with their five kids. Okay, Goldie why is this everytime you go home on leave you tell me when you get back there is another "Hump"? Better go home and keep an eye on him, Goldie.

The next seniors I saw was William Weaver and Howard Lunsford in an old Ford headed toward F. B. and B. F. Better watch C. C. and Miss L. or they will be mad.

Who is this pictured in this cozy little dance hall? Why none other than Ted Slaughter and C. B. and five little kids jumping around on Saturday nights.

As I looked across the Amvets dance floor again, whom do I see but Ercelle Blalock doing the Mombo with H. R.

The last thing I saw was Annie Rose Wilson and the boy who used to call her drug store girl. Oh, yes, their kids are peeping through the curtains backstage.

Junior History

In our freshman year, the Mt. Tirzah, Hurdle Mills High Schools were consolidated with Helena to form a larger and more up-to-date high school.

We learned the high school procedure in a short time under the capable guidance of our home room teachers, Mr. Burely Dunn, Mr. Floyd Hicks, Jr., and Miss Jean Ray and our other teachers. We got along with our new friends very nicely. We enjoyed a Christmas party and a wiener roast.

In our sophomore year, we knew the high school routine and plunged right to work. We found school a little more difficult than the year before, but school was still fun. This was the year some began participating in athletic contests.

Our homeroom teachers, Mr. Floyd Hicks, Jr., and Mrs. Robertson, as well as our other teachers had a little trouble with us, but we figured we were not too big a problem. We enjoyed a Christmas party, and a wiener roast. Later in the spring Rebecca Walker was a very gracious hostess at an ice cream supper.

Now we are Juniors. Half of our high school life is gone. Mrs. Cecil Foushee and Mrs. Hulon Welch are our homeroom teachers. What comes first with a Junior is his class ring and junior-senior banquet. We sponsored a magazine drive in October to raise funds for our banquet.

Much time was devoted to the junior play, entitled "A Ready-Made Family", which was given on December 16th. Then on December 22, came the happiest day of our Junior year. That was the day our class rings arrived. None could have asked for a better Christmas present. Now we are anxiously awaiting our junior-senior banquet.

We are also looking forward to next year when we take our places as Seniors.
